Rabies, Symptoms and Preventive Measures

Dr. Clarke Gives Valuable Information in Detecting Disease Suffered by Dogs—Intolerance of Members of the Household Sure Sign That Rabies Is Present—Dumb Form As Dangerous As Violent Type.

"Mad dog, hydrophobia, rabies, are three commonly heard names for a disease suffered by dogs," said Dr. Harold Clarke, Veterinarian and City Food Inspector, to a Freeman reporter who sought an interview today. "This disease is infectious in its nature and to further classify it, the disease belongs to what the German scientists classify as 'ansteckend,' that is to say a malady which must be set over from one animal suffering from the disease to another by personal contact. Rabid dogs barking across a fence cannot cause your pet to be infected with the disease nor is it possible for the clothing of a person to carry infection that will bring the disease to a dog from another dog. So bear in mind that a dog to develop rabies must have come in contact with a dog that has himself had the disease.

"Now how shall we determine if the time has come when we should fear our own pet dog? A very important part of this answer is depending upon your knowledge of how your pet acted when you were sure that he was well. Don't feel his nose, because in health the dog will have a hot nose, a cold nose, a moist one, all perhaps in a few hours. Don't go looking for symptoms but try to observe what really does present itself. One of the first noticeable things is a dullness. True, dullness occurs from many things but in this case don't waste a day trying to coax your dog to eat, but take all food away, give him a good physic, shut him up for twenty-four hours and then see. If the dullness still persists, if there is a very complete apathy, then be careful and look further.

Slowness and Intolerance.

"If you have the dog well confined poke him with something and note his response. If the disease is really progressing there will be a certain slowness in his response. It is called 'incoordination' by medical authorities and while hard to describe it is really an easily recognizable condition when compared to how you know your dog's usual actions to be. From here on, if the disease is really present, developments are rapid. Probably the next stage will be intolerance of certain members of the household, but still rendering obedience to one or two and possibly these two not those usually accustomed to the dog.

Peculiar Symptoms.

"Then come the symptoms very peculiar to the disease itself. The animal may eat by suddenly gulping portions of food, only to cease perhaps with the mouth full. Pieces of wood, stone or foreign articles become either wonderful delicacies or objects of hatred to be bolted out of sight as quickly as possible. Sometimes much water is consumed but this is not constant as it largely depends upon the condition of the animal.

"Dumb" Rabies.

"From here the disease may take one of two courses. There is a so-called 'dumb' rabies—and a truly rabid form. The dumb form is just as dangerous to humans as the violent type. In the dumb form the conditions as described above may not be so apparant, that is not so sharply defined. There is a desire to hide in dark places, lack of energy, the bodily functions do not need to relieve themselves as frequently as usual, appetite is practically absent, and here is the great danger: As you sympathise with the poor dog and are gently stroking him—snap and you are bitten, and worst of all the dog will appear not to know that he has bitten you and may come wagging his tail for more petting.

The Violent Form.

"Taking up the more violent form from where we separated them above, following that period of lethargy, almost as if the animal were storing up energy for the final spurt of the disease, comes the time honored 'mad dog' symptoms. The animal, if confined, dashes himself against the walls, gnashes his teeth, which produces the foam, fails to respond to any commands, continues his exertions till exhaustion brings him relief from the malady for which once the symptoms develop there is no cure.

Run, Bite and Run.

"If on the other hand the animal is not confined then comes the long run, the quick biting of anything it can reach, and the run again. At this season of the year a running dog is not liable to foam at the mouth. In neither case are they apt to bark but if they do, then you will know, for it is a sound very foreign to the normal bark of a dog.

Fourteen Days to Develop.

"Lastly, how long after a dog has been bitten will the disease develop. In the human family the best information seems to agree that at least fourteen days must elapse. For the dog, authorities differ, some believing at least three weeks, others putting the incubation period as low as ten days. The location of the bite makes a big difference. If the hind legs are the entrance of infection it may take the disease over three months to develop, if the bite be on the face, particularly over the eye, then rabies may be in full swing in fourteen days or possibly, according to some authorities, even in ten days. For the comfort of those who might have a valued dog bitten by a supposedly rabid animal, there is an anti-rabic treatment for dogs very similar to that for humans and equally efficacious."

Highest Honors For Lindbergh

Flier Will Receive Highest Honor of the Cuban Government Tonight at Banquet—Women Outnumber Men at Reception.

Havana, Feb. 10 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, to whom Cuba already has given her heart, tonight will receive the highest honor of the Cuban government.

The grand cross of the Order of Carlos Manual De Cespedes will be conferred upon the flier by President Machado at a presidential banquet to Lindbergh in the National Theatre.

Women outnumbered men by at least four to one at a reception at the American Embassy attended by thousands of Americans and residents of Havana. Lindbergh smiled on all, but only rarely did he break his rule by shaking hands.

"I don't blame you for not shaking hands", one admirer exclaimed, "but I'd give my right hand for a kiss".

"Oh if I could only kiss you", one white haired woman pleaded.

The flag of the officers' club at Camp Columbia was given Lindbergh when the flyer was eulogized by Secretary of War Iturralde of Cuba at a luncheon there.

"I will keep the flag as a memorial of my visit to Cuba", Lindbergh said. "It is not necessary for me to carry anything to remember this visit, which is a most pleasant one."

Worked in flowers the flags of the United States and Cuba were spread before the aviator on the luncheon table. The ball was decorated with the flags of the 21 countries now represented at the Pan-American conference.

Lindbergh today entered upon a program of official receptions scheduled to consume the entire day.

In his honor the province of Havana had a gold medal cast commemorating his transatlantic flight. An outline of the Atlantic coast lines of America and Europe with small arrows tracing his route from New York to Paris was engraved upon one side. On the reverse was the inscription, in Spanish:

"Donated by the province of Havana to Charles A. Lindbergh for his heroic service to the science of aviation."

Government officials and diplomats were invited to the presentation of the medal at the Cuban state department.

A pavilion roofed with gaily-striped canvas, surmounted by speared flagpoles from which flew the colors of all the republics of the Americas, was erected in Havana's central park. In front of the pavilion stands the statue of Jose Marti, the father of Cuban freedom. Among the flower beds, statues, laurel trees of the park people gathered early to see Lindbergh receive the keys to the city of Havana.

Crime to Issue Small Check.

Binghamton, N. Y., Feb. 10 (AP).—A federal law which makes it a crime to issue a check for an amount less than one dollar has been disclosed by a proceeding in surrogate's court here. The law is found in the U. S. Criminal Code, section 178, and provides a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than six months, or both, as a penalty for its infringement.

Jury Declares Hickman Sane

Will be Given All the Law Allows, Says Judge Trabucco—Hickman Makes "Wise Cracks" on Way to His Cell.

Los Angeles, Feb. 10 (AP).—William Edward Hickman is sane and therefore accountable to the law for the kidnapping, murder and mutilation of little Marian Parker.

Such is the decision of the jury which yesterday required only 36 minutes of deliberation to reach its conclusion. Whether the 19 year old youth dies on the gallows or goes to the penitentiary for the rest of his life rests with Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, who will determine his punishment and pronounce sentence tomorrow.

Judge Trabucco's sole indication of what his final decision might be carried little comfort for the kidnapper and slayer. In a cryptic statement at the close of the sanity trial, Judge Trabucco said:

"I cannot state in advance just what my sentence will be—but you can rest assured that this defendant will be given all the law allows."

The veteran jurist seemed to have no doubt as to the route over which he was to guide the case in its final stages. Scarcely had the jury of eight men and four women declared Hickman sane than the judge attempted to obtain a stipulation of prosecution and defense permitting him to use the transcript of the trial in fixing the degree of guilt.

May Need More Testimony.

Jerome Walsh, young defense attorney, interposed some objection and no ruling was made. Later Walsh said he had not understood the question and probably would agree to the request. Should he refuse to enter into the stipulation, legal authorities pointed out, it would be necessary for either Judge Trabucco to rule on this point of the new law, declaring further testimony unnecessary. Otherwise the prosecution would be forced to call witnesses to aid the court in deciding the extent of punishment.

While the court and the attorneys were feeling their way through the labyrinth of the new and untested law governing insanity pleas in criminal cases, Hickman was taking the matter coolly. As the jury delivered its verdict he sat bolt upright in his chair, showing no emotion. As he was led from the courtroom he only cast a disdainful look at the hundreds who were staring at him. And while Judge Trabucco spoke the words which left little hope for him, Hickman was making "wise cracks" on the way to his cell.

Immediately after the verdict, when Hickman had returned to his cell with the remarks that "the die is cast and the state wins by a neck", jail authorities ordered a constant guard placed over him.

Mrs. Hickman Hears Result.

His mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman, of Kansas City, Mo., whose alleged mental ills had been paraded through the trial by the defense in an effort to show hereditary insanity, heard the result in the office of his attorneys. Overcome, she wandered out into the street and afterward was found by Hickman's brother, Alfred, standing on a street corner that rang with the shouts of newsboys.

In the Parker home, news of the verdict was received almost listlessly. The mother of the 12-year-old girl victim received it in silence.

"I'm satisfied—satisfied and wanting only to forget", said her father, Perry M. Parker.

Hickman's attorneys announced an appeal would be taken on the legality of the entire proceedings and the constitutionality of the new California law under which the plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" was entered and received.

COMING ACTIVITIES AT REDEEMER CHURCH.

An effort will be made by Prof. Richens, organist and choirmaster of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, to organize a junior choir. He will meet the boys and girls of the church desirous of joining the choir on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The junior choir will offer to the children a very appealing form of church activity.

The Ministerial Pensions Campaign comes to a close on Sunday. The workers of the Church of the Redeemer are hard at work in an effort to meet the church quota. Already over $2,000 has been raised.

Mattress Factory Damaged by Fire

Morris Abramovitz's Plant on Lower Hasbrouck Avenue Badly Gutted by Flames in Noon Day Fire—Damage Estimated at $3,000.

The mattress factory of Morris Abramovitz at 42-46 Hasbrouck avenue was badly damaged by fire which broke out shortly after 12 o'clock noon today, and was finally brought under control by the fire department at 1:30 o'clock. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy estimated the damage at from $2,500 to 3,000.

The fire broke out in a bin used to store feathers which was located against the rear wall of the building. The building in which the fire was confined was a one story brick building erected several years ago and which was used as a storage for the mattresses and the materials used in their manufacture. This brick addition is divided into two large rooms by a wooden partition. The room near the Ulster & Delaware railroad tracks was used as a display room for fine furniture which Mr. Abramovitz also handles.

The other room, where the fire originated, was filled with mattresses and materials used in their construction. The actual manufacture of the mattresses was done at the adjoining building which was not damaged by fire.

Firemen Used Smoke Masks.

When the firemen arrived in response to a call from Box 45, Hasbrouck avenue and Mill street, they found the fire burning in the interior of the building, and as they opened the doors dense clouds of smoke rolled out. The smoke was of a greenish hue and was so dense that the firemen were forced to don smoke masks in order to enter the building.

Burning mattresses were picked up by the firemen and hurled out into the rear yard while other firemen began stretching lines of hose.

Owing to the brick construction of the building the fire was confined within its four walls, but spread rapidly from the storage room into the adjoining room which was filled with bedroom suites and other articles of household furniture.

Huge quantities of water were poured into the building and before the fire was brought under control there was half a foot of water covering the floor of the building through which the firemen waded.

Workmen employed at the factory stated that when they left the building at 12 o'clock for their dinner there was no evidence of fire.

The Mitchell House is the second hotel to be padlocked. The first was the Storman Hotel.

The federal agent nailed four doors shut from the inside and a padlock was placed on them. The padlock papers were officially signed January 19, making the imprisoned bar's release date June 17.

When Coolidge Made Short Speech

Chaplain Schrum Relates New Coolidge Anecdote Talk to Kiwanis Club—Gives Intimate View Also of President Harding

At the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday the club was informed that Kiwanis Club of Poughkeepsie will celebrate their seventh anniversary next Tuesday. A very cordial invitation was extended to the Kingston Club to be present and [illegible]. A general resume of the work accomplished by the club and also of Kiwanian activities throughout the section will be a feature of the program. It will be an instructive meeting that will be well attended by local Kiwanians and their friends.

Another meeting of importance was called to the attention of the club by President Rowland. The Boy Scouts will have a rally on Saturday at the armory. Kiwanis has always supported the Boy Scouts, believing them to be worthy of all help in their efforts towards developing young manhood.

Chaplain Schrum Speaks.

The speaker of the day was introduced by William Schornstheimer. Promising a worth while message by a real man Kiwanian Bill presented Reuben W. Schrum, lieutenant-commander, United States Navy, Chaplain of the Mayflower.

Owing to the fact that the commander was obliged to depart by an earlier train than had been expected, his address was brief and yet mighty interesting. He first referred to the many pleasures which he had enjoyed during his stay in Kingston. As he put it, his stay here had been short and he had been worked pretty hard, having spoken to over five gatherings in twenty-four hours, yet he certainly hoped that he might come again if only to be allowed to preach in the Old Dutch Church. This edifice had certainly made a profound impression upon the commander and the way in which he described the effect upon himself of the "stately spacious walls" found also a response among the business men who heard him speak.

Turning to a lighter vein, the chaplain said that if because of his train he was causing the Kiwanis Club to miss their dessert, he, too, was also sacrificing. To him there was nothing more enjoyable than to see the way in which the club singing usually pepped up the staid business man.

Relates Harding Incident.

Chaplain Schrum was not assigned to the Mayflower while Mr. Harding was President, but from the officers and others he was able to relate incidents of President Harding's life that were entirely new. They showed the late President in a light seldom looked at nowadays when people see too much of what may be the faults of administrating, and lose almost entirely the kindly, courteous, lovable gentleman whom the commander brought so close to his hearers by his words. The chaplain told of an incident of the White House at the time of the first illness of Mrs. Harding. Dr. Booth, the naval physician who was then attending the case, was about to leave for the night when he encountered the President who asked him as a favor if he would not remain so that he might easily be within call during the night. Then the President himself escorted Dr. Booth to the guest room, with his own hands laid by the covers, and going to his room returned with a suit of pajamas for the doctor's use. Chaplain Schrum felt that this incident was very typical of the beauty of spirit manifested by the former President in his dealings with his fellow men.

President's Short Speech.

Having been assigned to the Mayflower during Mr. Coolidge's term, it was but natural that the commander should have first hand information as to the present Chief Executive. He confirmed the proverbial quietness of President Coolidge, mentioning his own experiences when invited to luncheons on the Mayflower, although he qualified his statement by saying that Mr. Coolidge could wax quite eloquent when discussing his native state of Vermont. As a typical Coolidge anecdote the chaplain related the following, saying that he believed it the best among a goodly number which dealt with the fewness of the President's words. It seems that as the President was returning from the American Legion Convention, at a very small station the special train was obliged to stop for water.

There was the usual gathering of publicity and curiosity seekers on hand to mill about the rear platform, cheering and calling for a speech. But the crowd was better organized than most of them, for apparently the local "butter and egg man" was standing on a soap box directing the acclamations. The President stepped out on the back platform, when the cheers were promptly redoubled.

Finally the leader achieved a semblance of silence among the crowd and bellowed at them, "Shut up, give a man a chance to talk who knows how to talk", and just as the train began to move the President stepped to the railing and in his high pitched nasal twang said "Goodbye." And that good-bye was also the commander's farewell, and before the laugh was over he was in a motor car speeding for the train to carry him back to Washington and his round of duties.

Ulster County Jail Conditions Shown in Report

State Commission of Correction Approves Report of Inspector—Insane Persons Should Not Be Detained—Use More Care in Entering Jail—Recommendation for Jail in City Hall.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 10.—(Special) The State Commission of Correction has approved the following reports of inspection:

Ulster County Jail, Kingston.

Inspected January 31, 1928, Arthur Rice, sheriff. The jail staff consists of an under sheriff, a day jailer, a night jailer, an assistant jailer, a matron, and a cook.

There were 16 inmates at the time of inspection, classified as follows:

	Male Adult	Male Minor	Female Adult	Female Minor
Serving sentence	13	..	..	..
Awaiting court or grand jury	1	1	1	..
Total	14	1	1	..

Prisoners were properly classified. The highest population since July 1, 1927, was reported as 31, the lowest 10, and the average about 20.

This jail, which was the first of the so-called modern jails erected in this state, contains 44 cells for men and 15 cells for women. One of the latter is a padded cell which, it was stated, had not been used in more than a year. The cell arrangement is such that there is no difficulty in maintaining a legal classification of prisoners. The installation of two additional shower baths mentioned in the last report of inspection has aided materially in promoting efficient jail administration.

Except that some of the steel work in the main jail has been marred by inmates pasting pictures on the walls, and by writing thereon, the jail was in good order and clean throughout. The old iron toilets which are stained from years of use detract from the appearance of the jail, but they appeared to be kept in as clean condition as cleansing and disinfecting can produce. It has been recommended in previous reports of inspection that they be replaced by modern vitreous fixtures but no steps toward that end have as yet been taken by the board of supervisors and the recommendation is herewith renewed. The sheriff stated that he had forbidden the pasting of pictures on the cell walls and would adopt measures to have the practice discontinued. It was further stated that the officials expect to obtain paint and have the interior of the main jail painted as has been done in the department for women. This will be a commendable improvement.

The locking devices were carefully examined and were found in good working order.

Sentenced male inmates are employed around the institution and grounds. It was stated, however, that there had been very little opportunity to furnish employment to sentenced females.

Three meals a day are served. The menu on day of inspection was Breakfast—oatmeal with syrup, bread and coffee; dinner—frankfurters and sauerkraut, potatoes, bread and coffee; supper—warmed-up potatoes, bread and tea. The noon meal was of good quality and ample.

The jail physician is regularly appointed and visits the jail on call. He examines only suspected cases for the presence of communicable disease, and a safeguard to the health of the other prisoners and the jail staff; it would be advisable if he would, as soon after commitment as possible, examine all incoming prisoners so that any diseased might be immediately segregated. Cases which require hospital care are sent to the city hospital.

The jail officials appear to be pursuing approved jail practices in requiring prisoners to bathe on admission and frequently during their incarceration, use of and weekly change of bed sheets and pillow slips, segregation of prisoners known to be infected with communicable disease, carefully supervising visitors, examining packages sent to inmates, relieving all prisoners of money and valuables, returning same upon discharge and taking receipt, and supplying indigent inmates with needed articles of clothing. Some matters, however, could be improved upon, viz., the laundry is used only for washing the bedding. The clothing of the inmates is washed by them in the jail corridors, resulting in more or less dampness in the jail and necessitating the string of clothes lines in the cells.

It was noted that the jailer on entering the jail carried with him the key to the outer door, thus inviting the danger of a successful "rush" and escape by inmates, particularly grand jury prisoners who may be facing long sentences under present laws, thus adding incentive to attempts at escape. It would be safer to have this key in the hands of another officer. The sheriff promised to correct these conditions.

In the annual report of the sheriff to the State Commission of Correction for the fiscal year it was noted that three men and woman had been committed to the jail under the charge of "Crazy". One of the men held at the time of inspection was understood to be awaiting transfer to an institution outside the state. To the layman he appeared to be in need of institutional care other than can be provided at a county jail.

The sheriff was advised that it was illegal to detain persons in a county

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

She was only a cooper's daughter, but at least she knew when to stop.

Seems to Be a Big Factor.

Fine feathers do not, so they say,
Make fine birds. Dear me, sur'
I'd like to ask then, if I may
What does?

Father—I want to tell you when I was your age, son, I didn't tell any lies.

Son—How old were you when you started, pop?

Nothing except ultimate salvation is as important as a woman thinks putting down the windows every time it starts to rain is.

"I sometimes think I'd like a wife Who's dull," said Mr. Nutting:
"The keen ones, sharp as any knife, Say things that are too cutting."

Love may turn a cottage into a palace. But it can't turn a vacant lot into a steam-heated apartment.

"Hey, Bill, didn't I borrow ten bucks from you yesterday?"
"Nope."
"How careless of me. Could you give it to me now?"

The trouble with the fellow who is going to the devil is that he wants to take the whole county with him.

A chap in New York lost his voice after being hit in the head with a hammer. A good thing to remember.

"I'm wrapped up in my work," said the farmer as he fell in the way of his binding machine.

Truth is also a poorer seller than fiction.

One nice thing about buying a home today is that it does not need new piston rings about the time you get it paid for.

She: I hear the Scotchmen are trying to put an end to all the jokes about them.
He: And why?
She: Everyone of them is at a Scotchman's expense.

Permanent waves are fine in hair, but not so good in streets.

"The only man who ever won an argument with a woman was Adam."
"Yes, and he lost a rib out of it."

Nick—John figures he'll save money as a night watchman.
Jim—How?
Nick—"He'll save his board by sleeping all day and save his rent by working at night.

Sister (visiting very sick brother): "I've 'ad a very nice letter from Emily. She says she's sorry she ain't able to come and see you, but she 'opes to be able to come to the funeral."

"Pa," said little Gertie Grouch, "what is your birthstone?"
"The grindstone," said Grouch, with a look towards his wife.

"Do you know where little boys go who swim on Sunday," asked the Sunday school teacher of her class.
"Yes'm," replied one little rascal. "On the side of the lake that's got a lotta trees. But you can't go—girls ain't allowed.

"That's where I shine," he said, as he showed his blue serge suit to the tailor.

Good fellows make bad bankers.

Rhyme of the Unfortunate Freebooter.

A sailor from the ocean came
A pirate if you please
But time had sprung his timbers, some
And rheumatiz his knees.

He sought and found a little cot
A humble home on shore
And swore he'd nourish gentle peace
And sail the seas no more.

He musing sat and smoked his pipe
As pirates often do
And dreamed of the straits of Mozambique
And the bight of Timbuctoo.

For he had sailed the seven seas
And eke the Spanish main
Had scuttled many a noble ship
And many a foe had slain.

And as in retrospection grim
He sat and mused the while
A modern maid with dainty step
Came tipping o'er the stile.

He cocked his weather eye aloft
But cast it down again
And o'er his battered features stole
A look of bitter pain.

"Step in, step in", exclaimed the Tar
"Step in my cottage door
"For such a sight my blasted eyes
"Have never seen before".

It was an awesome thing to hear
This prepossessing creature
And see lit up with bitter scorn
Each decorated feature.

"Sir you speak of what you have never seen
Except perhaps on Monday's
And dare with sacrilegious tongue
To mention modern undies."

Alone beside his cottage door
Beneath the setting sun
He cussed his liver and his lights
And wondered what he'd done.

ALAN MACKENZIE.

Too Much to Expect.

Prof.—Why don't you answer me?
Fresh—I did, Professor. I shook my head.
Prof.—But you don't expect me to hear it rattle away up here, do you?

—The Pathfinder.

If all the passenger trains in the United States were filled to capacity about 6,000,000 persons could ride at the same time. On the other hand, there are enough automobiles in the country to carry 60,000,000 of our people at once.—Pathfinder Magazine.

MECHANICS FOR CO-EDS.

Domestic science and household economics are old stuff as courses of study for high school girls and college women. Now comes something different. It is a course in household mechanics given to co-eds at Ohio State University. The 24 young women enrolled in that course are learning to mend a water pipe or faucet; to do all kinds of electric wiring, soldering, plumbing and pipe fitting; to read the gas, electric and water meters; to repair household machinery such as washing machines, electric ironers, sweepers, sewing machines and the rest.

Any man knows how much such a course of instruction is needed, but hardly any man believes it is possible to teach the fair but unscientific sex how to go about such tasks. Yet it is worth trying. The present pupils in this course are taking to it with genuine interest and relish and are said to be mastering the theory as well as the practice. Food in the future homes of those 24 students may come out of cans now and then, but the cans will be opened correctly with no casualties, and other mechanical tasks will be approached scientifically and accomplished successfully.

NOVEL WAGE SCALE.

Employes in an Indianapolis factory have been fixing their own wages, to the apparent satisfaction of themselves and their employers. It is one of the most interesting of the new experiments along this line.

The workers compared cost-of-living data and submitted average budgets to the officials of the company, and their recommendations were accepted. There is a minimum wage scale of $19 a week for unmarried workers. Those married receive an addition of half the minimum wage. There are additional allowances made for children, at the rate of $1 a week for each minor child, up to a maximum wage of $32.50 a week. When husband and wife both work, the marriage differential doesn't apply.

The company is now planning a complementary scale, based on efficiency, which will add more to the wages of the best workers. Personal relations in the plant are said to be fine, with unusual contentment and effectiveness among the workers.

KING TUT'S BOATS.

It develops that the American excavators found a fleet of 18 boats in the third chamber of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, along with other treasures of the usual kinds. Those boats, it is explained, small and beautiful models, were placed there to carry the Pharaoh across the Styx, the river of death, so that he might face Osiris, the great Judge, and enter into the Egyptian heaven.

That may have been the purpose, though 18 boats seem a good many for one soul, even a monarch's. Maybe Tut was a maker and collector of boat models, like so many of our young men today, and this was his collection.

If a lot of our homes were overwhelmed by a volcanic eruption, or buried by drifting sand, and dug up two or three thousand years hence, who knows how archeologists might interpret the boat model on the mantel? Or the Billiken statue, or bronze elephant on the library table?

YACHTING CLOTHES NEXT.

There was a time when innocent Americans, pleased at the development of sports clothes, thought these comfortable styles had come about merely through native love of outdoor activities. In their simplicity they supposed the sports costume was free from fashion dictators. The truth is oh so different!

M. Worth, one of the fashion dictators of Paris, reveals our helplessness when he announces that the golf influence in sports costumes has now run its course. This year yachting will be the dominant influence. Outing clothes will go back to blue and white for their color inspiration, and they will be decorated with sailor collars and symbols of nautical life. Things may even go so far as epaulettes, though the thought is well-nigh unbearable.

But maybe the situation isn't so bad. Perhaps it is only prejudice on our part that makes the golfer's plus fours and sweater appear more suitable to all sports than the yachtsman's trim outfit.

In a community that pays its jurors $3 a day, the system has been receiving much scrutiny of late. Juries have rendered foolish decisions in so many cases that judges and citizens and the unjustly treated litigants are aroused and are seeking a remedy. The most obvious remedy is to get a better grade of jurors. That is what is needed all over the country. But it is a difficult matter while jury service is regarded as an unpleasant burden rather than a civic duty.

ONE SIDED HEADACHE.

At least a couple of times a year I like to talk about migraine, that one sided headache which prostrates its victims for one to three days. To be frank in the matter, the real cause has not been definitely located, but is thought to be due to a nervous element in the individual, and then some local condition such as overtiredness, eye or nose disturbances, or intestinal disorder, is the match that starts the flame.

Of a series of 400 cases investigated by Dr. W. Allen, Charlotte, N. C., he found that housewives numbered almost one half.

That the digestive tract is concerned in most cases, is evidenced by the nausea and vomiting which so frequently are present.

One of the reasons that the liver has been blamed so often for these headaches is that where vomiting occurs, some bile is seen, and the vomiting seems to give some temporary relief.

One of the later ideas as to the exciting causes of the trouble is that the first part of the small intestine, into which the stomach empties, seems to stop work for the time being, and a condition of stoppage or stasis is thus created.

Therefore nothing goes from the stomach into intestine, but on the other hand material, including bile, is thrown back into stomach, thus causing the nausea and vomiting.

It is for this reason that epsom salts are given, as they stimulate liver and gall bladder to action, and help relieve the condition. However although we don't know the cause, we do know that if there is a tendency toward attacks of migraine, that a little care can prevent, or at least lessen the number and severity of these attacks.

There is the matter of diet. Too much white bread, potatoes, eggs, and milk, are most frequently the articles that can be blamed, but often the patient states that he notices a relation between some other article of food and the attacks. As most of these cases are below weight, a diet rich in fat is urged by Dr. C. L. Hartsock and others.

However although some of these patients seem to do considerable work about the house, there is no question but that if abdominal organs were held in place by their own abdominal muscles, aided for a time by an abdominal belt, that there would be more freedom from these distressing attacks.

The exercise of lying on floor and raising legs slowly to almost a right angle, keeping knees straight, is a great "tightener" of abdominal muscles. Six to twelve times, night and morning, would soon make an impression on the abdomen.

PEPPER POT THE SOUP OF PHILADELPHIA

Maryland may have its terrapin and its fried chicken. New England may boast its pumpkin pie and hasty pudding. Pennsylvania has its scrapple, but as for your real, dyed-in-the-wool Philadelphian, give him his Pepper Pot, and the meal is a meal.

Philadelphia Pepper Pot is a soup, a unique and unusual soup, with an historical background as definitely fixed in the traditions of Philadelphia as are Poor Richard, Fairmount Park, Rittenhouse Square or the Betsy Ross House themselves.

And what a gorgeous, sumptous soup is this Pepper Pot—with its honeycomb tripe, a racy dash of savory thyme, sweet marjoram, freshly ground black peppercorns, generously enriched with diced potatoes and carrots, sweet pimientos and tempting dumplings. The process is intricate, but Pepper Pot may now be bought in cans from any grocer enterprising enough to carry it or obliging enough to order it.

Make Parchment Shades at "Y."

Women in Kingston interested in the making of parchment shades are reminded that a new beginning class in this work will start on Tuesday, February 14, at 7:15, at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Winifred Sullivan is in charge of the work and anyone desirous of taking the course should telephone 1911 and enroll before that date. Information will be given there as to materials necessary for the first lesson.

Most Daring Hawk

The American goshawk is the fiercest, most destructive and most daring of all the hawks. Because its breeding range is far north and it is fewer in number than the Cooper, the aggregate damage to poultry is less, though grouse and other game birds suffer greatly. Mammals and insects are also taken.

Kitchen Set Is Made of Empty Flour Bags

Lucky indeed is the bride or housekeeper that opens an interesting looking birchbound box and finds inside a kitchen gift set consisting of six dish towels, three pot holders, a brown cover and generous-sized duster. And doubly is the giver who knows how to make the entire outfit for so little as 50 or 75 cents! The secret is that she uses flour bags, empty flour bags which any baker will sell to you for a few pennies each.

The bags are just suited to making these articles, as they are soft, closely woven, absorbent and very durable. They do not have to go through the hard "breaking in" process that ordinary toweling or crash requires. They grow softer and whiter with each washing.

The bags are made ready for use by ripping out the chain stitching and taking out the stamping by soaking it in kerosene or covering the places with lard, and then washing out in lukewarm water next morning.

Four such bags are needed for the set. Three of them go to make the half dozen dish towels, laundered and all ready for use. The raw edges are buttonholed. An amusing design is worked in quickly done outline stitch. If you cannot draw the designs, one set of transfer patterns will do for many articles as they can be traced through as well as ironed off.

The remaining bag will cut out a broom cover, similarly decorated, a large duster and the trio of pot holders. These may be round or square and should have an interlining of flannel or batting. The edges may be bound with bias tape instead of buttonholing. They should be equipped with little brass or celluloid rings for hanging.

Rabbit Ears of Felt or Feather Hat Ornaments

Parisian milliners seem determined to lift headgear out of the rut of conventionalism into which it has fallen.

New hats show various trick devices for making millinery less standardized. If hats cannot actually claim to be trimmed at least Paris no longer insists that there be a reason for every line and bit of decoration.

One manifestation of this trend is the stick-up ends that adorn many of the new hats. "Rabbit-ears" is the name Paris has given the small upstanding bits of twisted felt, or small feather ornaments. Sometimes the rabbit-ears are placed exactly in the front. Oftener, however, they are at the side front, half way up the crown.

When Glasses Stick

If two glasses become wedged together stand them in warm water and pour cold water into the inside glass. By this method they may be separated without fear of cracking.

State Health in 1927 Exceptional

Death Rate Was Never Lower and Equalled Only Once in 32 Years—Death Rate from Auto Accidents Rises.

Provisional figures show that the health of the people of New York state was exceptional during 1927, according to Dr. Matthias Nicoll, jr., state commissioner of health. The total number of deaths was less than a year ago by more than [illegible], mainly because of the [illegible] volume of mortality from apoplexy, pneumonia and diseases of the heart and kidneys.

The death rate, 12.3 per 1,000 population, was never lower and was equalled but once in forty-three years. Infant mortality, 59 deaths under one year of age per 1,000 living births, was the lowest recorded since these deaths were first compiled separately in 1904. Mortality from most of the diseases of childhood with the exception of diphtheria also showed a gratifying decrease.

Although the birth rate was lower than the average for the preceding five years, the natural increase of the population—that is the difference between births and deaths was, because of the fewer number of deaths, almost 2a per cent higher than in 1926.

Leading Causes of Death.

The most important causes of death in New York state last year were heart disease, cancer, pneumonia, disease of the kidneys, tuberculosis and accidents. Combined these diseases caused a little more than three-fifths of all deaths.

Cancer with the highest mortality rate ever recorded now ranks second as a cause of death. A year ago it was third; in 1917 it was fifth and twenty years ago it was eighth. At that time it was preceded in order by pneumonia, tuberculosis, diseases of the heart, acute and chronic nephritis, diarrhea and enteritis (under 2 years of age) accidents and apoplexy.

The death rates from diseases of the kidney and from tuberculosis have never been lower than they were in 1927. The decline for the latter was the greatest recorded since 1921 and the 1927 rate was but one-half that recorded only ten years ago.

New Minimum Rates.

Among other causes of death new minimum rates are observed for typhoid fever—only 1.7 per 100,000 population; measles 1.6; diarrhea and enteritis under 2 years of age—12.1; bronchitis 5.0. The death rate from whooping cough—4.2 was lower only once since 1885.

The death rate from automobile accidents—21.5—continued to rise, the suicide rate—16.6—was the highest since 1915 and the rate from homicide—5.6—was higher but once in a score of years.

Monuments at a Worthwhile Saving

THAT monument that you will have erected this spring can be purchased now at a big reduction.

Our Reason For This Big Reduction

As we are manufacturers and employ a number of men we must give these men employment during our slack winter period and are willing to sacrifice profit that we might keep our plant operating during this dull season.

Why You Should Place Your Order With Us Now

1. Being Manufacturers you can buy through our one profit method of distribution—DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURER.
2. You avoid the spring rush and are assured of a better choice, from a larger selection NOW than will be possible after so many have selected their Family Memorial in the spring.
3. We will have more time to devote to the construction of this very important work of memory.
4. You can take advantage of these discounts by placing your order NOW to be constructed during the winter and set in the spring.

CARVING AND LETTERING WILL ALWAYS REMAIN LEGIBLE WHEN CARVED BY OUR NEW SAND BLAST METHOD.

OVER 200 BEAUTIFULLY FINISHED MONUMENTS IN STOCK FOR YOUR SELECTION.

O'Doul and Cohen In Giant Camp

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—The New York Giants' problem of finding some batting punch to offset the loss of Rogers Hornsby's potent wallop will be solved if two of the club's newcomers, Frank "Lefty" O'Doul and Andy Cohen, measure up to anything like their 1927 performances in double A company.

O'Doul, like Babe Ruth, is a reformed pitcher who discovered his bat to be more potent than his curves. As a representative of San Francisco he was voted the most valuable player in the Pacific Coast League last year. With an average of .375 he was runnerup to his teammate, Jolly, for the league's batting crown.

Cohen, the widely heralded Jewish infielder who may succeed Hornsby at the keystone bag, was a big factor in Buffalo's International League pennant victory last season, batting .355 and fielding sensationally.

Both O'Doul and Cohen are expected to land regular berths by Manager John McGraw, who feels they have had sufficient experience to step into fast company and make good.

Batting eyes that glow in the minors frequently become dull in the big league glare but there are also numerous cases where they have become even brighter.

The famous Waner brothers, for instance, never hit minor league pitchers any harder than they have the slants of National League boxmen. In fact Lloyd Waner, in his debut last season, hit just as hard as he did the year before in the "sally" league.

Paul Waner, the batting king of the National League last season, did considerable to offset the impression that most Pacific Coast League averages shrink in the east. Paul Strand was a sensation while hitting in the rarified atmosphere of Salt Lake City and a "bust" with the Athletics. Jimmy O'Connell was another whose stick work fell off when he came to the majors.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Introducing a White Feather Turban That Has Every Semblance of a Wig and Proves Charming With a Black Coat Collared With White Fox.

Paris—Recently at tea in a very chic Paris salon, a woman caused a sensation by appearing in a white feathered turban that gave exactly the impression of a snowy wig. It was really charming, the soft white breast feathers curving over her forehead, and the turban completely covering her hair. She wore it with a black cloth coat with high standing white fox collar.

Feather turbans have been worn more or less in Paris all winter but this is the first white one encountered and the first, in any color, that suggested a coiffure. Most of the feather turbans have some sort of tab over one or both ears, the feathers nestling against the cheek. Many are gray, which brings to mind that the gray ensemble is becoming more in evidence daily, which would seem to indicate that by spring gray would be rather generally worn.

Gray, as has been said before, is the sports wear color of the year, gray and black being exceedingly smart in woolens, and rivaled only by beige, which, not being so new, takes second place.

While on the fascinating subject of color, it may be said that one of the most approved shades is a warm chamois tone, another version of the omnipresent beige. The newer beige shades have a yellow rather than pink cast, but there is a great deal of pink being worn and more anticipated for spring.

Has Gay Sports Sweater for Week-End Occasions

Dorothy Mackaill, the "movie" star, who has occasion to spend many week-ends away from home, has her things packed carefully so as to always appear well dressed and yet not be burdened with luggage. In the film, "The Crystal Cup," Miss Mackaill wears a costume that serves the sports and traveling ideas perfectly, as the coat sweater may be added for sports, discarded and worn with silk blouse for another informal costume, and also serves as a smart traveling costume beneath a coat.

The Verdancy of Age.

"Did your grandfather live to a green old age?"

"I should say so! He was swindled three times after he was 70."

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

The scratchy noise that has been so troublesome for several days was not heard Thursday, at least not after 4:30, and with the exception of occasional snarls and a few brief onslaughts by the buzzer, reception was not interfered with locally. There was no static, WGY behaved itself and even WJZ did not fade as much as usual. Several stations, notably KDKA, WLWL and WEAF did a lot of spreading. Reception generally was good, with Nashville, Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Ottawa the star DX performers. WLWL at 7:30 spread so that it interfered with WGY.

FAVOR CANZONERI TO CAPTURE TITLE.

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Tony Canzoneri of Brooklyn, and Benny Bass of Philadelphia are opponents in a 15 round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight for the featherweight championship of the world. Canzoneri with an advantage of two inches in height and two and one-half inches in reach, rules the favorite by 8 to 5.

Canzoneri, an Italian youngster of 21, was born in New Orleans. He is the champion of the New York state athletic commission with victories over Bud Taylor, Ignacio Fernandez and Johnny Dundee, former titleholder. However, his triumph over Dundee was when the latter was fighting out of the division limit. Bass, a hard hitting boxer of 22, was awarded the title by the National Boxing Association after he had defeated Red Chapman of Boston in an elimination tournament. As New York state is not a member of the National Boxing Association, the dispute over the championship was created.

The featherweight championship was vacated voluntarily by Louis (Kid) Kaplan because of difficulty in making 126 pounds.

BUD TAYLOR LOSES FIGHT WITH JOEY SANGOR.

Chicago, Feb. 10 (AP).—A five minute count wasn't long enough for Bud Taylor, world's bantamweight champion, last night and he lost his fight with Joey Sangor, Milwaukee featherweight, in the seventh round. It was called a technical knockout. The title did not go with the victory as Sangor outweighed Taylor by more than five pounds.

A low left hook sent Taylor down. Referee Phil Collins—who was in the ring when Sammy Mandell won the lightweight title from Rocky Kansas here—said the blow was "on the borderline". Taylor's seconds claimed a foul.

After an examination by a physician and consultation of the judges and the referee, Taylor was given five minutes' rest. At the end of that time he still was unable or unwilling to continue, and the decision was given Sangor.

The second term for swimming for the Y. W. C. A. girls at the Y. M. C. A. pool began this week and will last until the first of June. It is a great satisfaction for those in charge to notice the progress made by the girls who have taken up this sport this year for the first.

Classes are held on Tuesday evenings and on Thursday mornings from 10 to 11 o'clock. All instruction as given by Miss Alice McLaughlin and Miss Lena Gasool is absolutely free. It is hoped that women and girls will enroll early and get the full benefit of the term of swimming.

A health examination is required and particulars regarding it may be obtained at 14 Henry street. Term tickets are very reasonable in price.

The Apollo quintet of the Industrial League defeated the Artistics, 27-15, at the Y. M. C. A. MEN'S COMMUNITY CLUB OF PORT EWEN ENTERTAINS.

Wednesday, February 8, was the fifth annual Ladies' Night of the Men's Community Club of Port Ewen held in the Reformed Church of Port Ewen. At 8 o'clock a troupe of entertainers from the Church of the Comforter of Kingston gave a fine entertainment in the auditorium of the church. Much credit is due Herbert Christian, chairman of the entertainment committee, in bringing this group of entertainers.

At the close of the entertainment the members of the club and their guests were invited to the lecture room of the church, where the refreshment committee under the supervision of the chairman, Charles D. Van Orden, served the following repast: Grape-fruit, chicken pie, mashed potatoes, lettuce and tomato salad, rolls and coffee and pineapple marshmallow with whipped cream as dessert. The banquet was served in a faultless manner. Much credit is due Mr. Van Orden and his assistants in serving such a fine banquet.

Toastmaster Christian called on the following persons: The president, A. B. Secor, Andrew M. Taylor, the Rev. Philip Goertz, the Rev. C. H. Polhemus, ex-presidents, Chauncy Freer and C. D. Van Orden, who responded. The entertainers added much to the banquet with their music and singing. The evening is long to be remembered by the members and their guests.

CONGREGATIONALS TO MEET FLEISCHMANNS

The Congregationals will meet the Fleischmanns quintet at Arkville Saturday night, February 11. The game is expected to be a fast one as the Congregationals have been showing much prowess in the court game this season. The Fleischmanns team has overcome some strong opponents since the starting of the basketball period. A preliminary game will be staged between the Fleischmanns girls team and the Shandaken girls quintet. Dancing will follow the game.

The bus that runs from Kingston to New York city, "Miss Kingston", will leave the Congregational Church on Abruyn street at 6 o'clock promptly Saturday evening. Anyone who wishes to accompany the team may call 2755-J or 2629 to make reservation.

CELTICS BEAT HUDSON THURSDAY BY ONE POINT.

Approximately 1,500 fans saw the Celtics overcome the Hudson team, 31-30, at that place Thursday night. The Shamrock quintet took the game in the final stages as Hudson held sway in the early period. At the end of the first half the score stood 20-19 in favor of Hudson. Pickens, of the Hudson team, led the scorers with 14 points. George Yerkes and Mickey Hutta, now playing with the Hudson team since Kingston disbanded, scored eight and five respectively. Leonard and Holman, of the Celtics, registered 12 and 10 markers respectively.

"Julius Caesar" By Noted Actors

Federation of Women's Clubs Brings Well Known Company Here Tuesday to Present First Complete Shakespearean Play Seen Here In Many Years.

The Stratford Players Company's production of Julius Ceasar, which the Federation of Women's Clubs is bringing to Kingston High School auditorium next Tuesday night will be the first complete Shakespearean play seen in this city in many years.

The principal members of the cast were formerly with the Robert B. Mantell Company and bring a seasoned experience to the handling of the classic roles. John Forrest, who plays the part of Caesar, is a young actor who has appeared with Henrietta Crossman, Wilton Lackaye and May Robson, and for two seasons he played Cassius to Robert Mantell's Brutus.

John C. Hickey, who will be seen as Casclus, has a record of theatrical accomplishments commencing in the companies of Frederick Warde and Louis James and a recital of his experiences would be a cross-section picture of the American stage of today.

James Hendrickson was for several seasons in the Shakespearean repertoire company of Fritz Leiber. Mr. Hendrickson played Brutus during Mr Mantell's recent illness and when the Stratford Players' Company was organized he was given the part of "The noblest Roman of them all."

Francis Matteson as Audrey, Louis Noskin as Casca, Clair Bruce as Portia, and Inez Kirke as Calphurnia fill th eother outstanding parts.

It will be found that the company follows somewhat the lines of the Ben Greet Players and the Coburns, the settings being in the Elizabethian manner. This permits of speed and continuity, things too often sacrificed when cumbersome practical scenery is used. The play is authentically costumed and by eliminating waits between scenes a larger part of the text is retained than is ordinarily employed in stage versions of the play. The lighting has been carefully studied with relation to the mood of each scene and some striking effects are obtained.

Tickets for the performance—there will be no reserved seats—may be had from members of the Federation or at the door on the night of the play. School tickets have been given out at the schools, but they will also be for sale at the door.

How Policemen Relieve Aching Feet

Policemen who stand on their feet all day say that when they get home they like to bathe their feet in a Sykes-Nathol solution—one teaspoonful to a quart. It relieves the soreness and aches instantly takes out the sting and stops the burning. Ends callouses, bunions, corns. Refreshing in bath, too. Use Sykes-Nathol at all dealers.

Kingston Jews Answer Appeal

Three Hundred Dollars Sent in by Local Residents for Relief of Co-Religionists of Eastern Europe—Asked to Continue Good Work.

Syracuse, Feb. 10.—Jewish people of thirteen cities in New York state, among them the Jewish residents of Kingston, have responded to the heartbreaking appeals for relief of their stricken co-religionists of Eastern Europe by sending close to $27,000 during the month of January. The money was sent on without delay to the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, which is carrying on the gigantic struggle to save thousands of Jewish families from starvation this winter in Poland and other parts of Eastern Europe where the condition of the Jewish population is critical.

Bernard B. Given, state chairman of the United Jewish Campaign, who was to have left for the south on orders of his physician, announced at state headquarters here that he has cancelled his trip and will remain until he has obtained $100,000, which must be made available for immediate relief work. According to word received by Mr. Given, the crisis brought on by unemployment and the hard winter, is approaching the catastrophic proportions of two years ago, when tens of thousands of Jewish families died in their dreary shacks for lack of bread.

The communities in which the Jews have heard of the distress of their brethren in the afflicted countries, have during the last three or four weeks redoubled their efforts and as a result have collected on campaign pledges a part of the sum which David A. Brown, national chairman of the United Jewish Campaign, has asked Mr. Given to raise before the end of this month.

The communities which sent in money are as follows: Albany, $5,000; Buffalo, $5,000; Syracuse, $7,000; Rochester, $3,000; Port Chester, $1,500; Watertown, $1,196; Newburgh, $1,000; New Rochelle, $933; Troy, $750; Ogdensburg, $317; Niagara Falls, $600; Poughkeepsie, 301; Kingston, $300.

These sums were raised by personal solicitations of pledgers, by advance payments by local campaign committees and in various other ways found suitable to conditions in the respective communities.

With regard to Kingston's effort on behalf of the suffering Jewish people abroad, State Chairman Given said: "The Jewish people of Kingston are earning the gratitude of their unfortunate brethren of Eastern Europe. I am confident the leaders of the Jewish people of that community will keep up the good work and will make every effort to push collection of payments on pledges without any delay. The need is great. There is no holier work than this—the saving of human lives in distress."

The officers of the United Jewish Campaign of Kingston are: Frank Forman, chairman; Joseph Kirschner, vice chairman; Max Jacobson, treasurer; and Henry Klein, secretary. Mr. Klein was the Kingston delegate recently at the state relief conference held in Syracuse.

Superstition, as useless as that which makes otherwise sensible people fear Friday, dodge thirteen and give the ladder the round-around is behind the fear that a Presidential election year is bad for business. Inspection of the business record of the Union since its establishment shows that out of thirty-four Presidential years, fourteen were years of prosperity, eleven of depression and nine were average. Political campaigns now less than ever affect business, says the Los Angeles Times. Indeed, the complaint is that people pay too little attention to political affairs.

Ulster County Jail Conditions

jail who are insane or alleged to be insane, except perhaps the temporary detention of any charged with crime while awaiting examination by alienists as to their mental state, and that he should refuse to accept any such; also, that the procedure in such cases would be to turn any insane or alleged insane over to the local health officer who has power to commit, temporarily, to the nearest state hospital for examination. It is suggested that a copy of the opinion of the attorney-general regarding the detention of such persons be forwarded to the sheriff for his guidance.

Recommendations.

1. That the practice of permitting the detention of insane or alleged insane persons in the jail be discontinued.

2. That the key to the main door of the jail be in the hands of a second person in the office when the jailer enters the jail, particularly if he is to enter the grand jury section.

3. That all laundry work be done in the jail laundry.

4. That the jail physician examine all inmates as soon after admission as possible for the purpose of segregating any suffering from communicable disease.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES McC. SHILLINGLAW,
Inspector.

City Jail—Kingston

Ulster County

Inspected January 31, 1928. E. J. Dempsey, mayor, J. Allan Wood, chief of police.

The city of Kingston is using four cells and a lodgers' pen in the basement of the county jail for the detention of male prisoners and the housing of lodgers. The quarters were equipped with sanitary facilities and were clean and in order. The mattresses in the cells are becoming badly soiled and should be replaced with new mattresses with waterproof cases obtainable from the Department of Correction, Albany. Female prisoners are lodged in the quarters for females at the county jail.

Police headquarters are temporarily housed in the municipal building, pending the erection of the new city hall, the old city hall having been destroyed by fire some months ago.

It was stated that plans have been prepared for the new building and that no quarters for prisoners will be provided with the exception of two detention rooms to be used only for detention of prisoners for very short periods, it being the intention of the city authorities to continue to use the cells in the basement of the county jail. The wisdom of housing police prisoners so far from police headquarters is open to question and it is suggested that the commission confer with the city officials with a view to having the plans changed so as to provide proper quarters for police prisoners, (male and female) and the matron in connection with police headquarters.

The record showed that 787 men and 44 women were arrested during the past calendar year. The chief of police stated that about ten per cent of the men and five per cent of the women had been locked up. He also stated that a matron is employed subject to call and a copy of resolution authorizing such employment is attached to this report for filing.

JAMES McC. SHILLINGLAW,
Inspector.

Ceremonies for Sudam Portrait

Judge Hasbrouck Suggests That Bar Association Should Undertake Some Ceremony When Ingraham Gift to County Is Placed In Court House.

The portrait of Judge John Sudam by Vanderlyn, which was bequeathed to the county of Ulster by the late Mary S. Ingraham of this city, has been delivered to Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck by F. J. R. Clarke, executor of the estate. Judge Hasbrouck has written to the Hon. Philip Elting, president of the Ulster County Bar Association, asking him to fix a date when the portrait may be hung in the court house under the direction of the bar association.

Judge Hasbrouck's letter to Mr. Elting was as follows:

February 3, 1928.

Hon. Philip Elting,
President Ulster Co., Bar Assn.,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Collector:

Frederick J. R. Clarke, executor of the estate of Mary S. Ingraham, has delivered to me as a representative of the county a portrait of John Sudam one time leading lawyer and prominent citizen of our county. It seems to me that this portrait should be hung in the court room and that some ceremony should be undertaken by the bar association at the time it is done. Will you bring the matter to the attention of your association and arrange a time when, if the occasion be deemed worthy of ceremony, it shall take place?

I am enclosing you a copy of a letter sent by me to Mr. Clarke on February 6th.

Very truly yours,
G. D. B. HASBROUCK.

The following letter of acknowledgment has been received by Mr. Clarke from Judge Hasbrouck:

Kingston, N. Y., February 6, 1928.
F. J. R. Clarke, President,
National Ulster County Bank,
Kingston, N. Y.

My dear Sir:

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the communication from you as executor of the estate of Mary S. Ingraham, late of this city, deceased, informing me of her bequest to the county of Ulster of the portrait of John Sudam. I beg, too, to acknowledge the delivery by you to me of his portrait. I am sure this gift of Miss Ingraham's will be widely appreciated by the people.

John Sudam stood at the very top of the legal profession in the state and exercised a wide beneficent influence in public affairs.

I shall suggest to the Ulster County Bar Association that the occasion of hanging the portrait in the court room is one of such moment as to require some ceremony and that the bar association have charge of it. It would be fortunate if the bar association might persuade you to make a short address anent the presentation of that occasion.

Very truly yours,
G. D. B. HASBROUCK.

Sandino Wants To Meet Marines

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 10 (AP).—General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, has defied the American marines to join battle with him.

Writing to the chief Nicaraguan authority in the Matagalpa district, Sandino said he would be delighted to meet the marines in the hills around Matagalpa when blood would flow.

He protested the "cowardly actions of the marines" in Nueva Segovia. This criticism was thought to be in objection to the marines' extensive bombing operations from airplanes which had made several strongholds of the rebels in the Nueva Segovia district untenable.

Various advices received here today placed the number of men under Sandino at from 100 to 600.

Some lines of communication between Managua and Matagalpa were cut. It was suggested that this was done by Sandino, who is not anxious to have his whereabouts definitely known.

FORMER ELLENVILLE GIRL RECEIVES BRAVERY MEDAL.

Miss Mabel Dann, former resident of Ellenville and daughter of R. A. Dann, has been awarded the Theodore N. Vail Medal and Citation for unusual bravery and devotion to duty. She was one of the two score telephone operators who remained on duty during the terrific explosions occurring at the big naval base at Picatinny, N. J., on July 10, 1926, which resulted in the destruction of the entire cantonment at Lake Denmark on Picatinny's outskirts and the evacuation of the territory for miles around.

TRUST COMPANY IN NEW QUARTERS TUESDAY

This is made necessary due to the fact that the main bank building is being remodeled, providing more adequate quarters for the transaction of its ever increasing business.

Upon completion, the building will be used solely as a banking institution, affording great facilities and conveniences to its clients.

Ptomaine Poison Affects Over 200

More than two hundred people in Ellenville and vicinity suffered from acute illness of ptomaine poisoning as a result of banquet food partaken of at the celebration of the three hundredth communication of the Ellenville Masonic Lodge held at the Wayside Inn Wednesday evening.

Early Thursday morning symptoms of the epidemic were discovered by the victims and long before dawn all doctors and residents with any pretensions of medical knowledge were busy attempting to relieve the sufferers. While an investigation promoted by Masonic officials is now under way, little real light has been thrown on the source of the poisoning. General opinion is that the fresh pork sandwiches are responsible for the epidemic. The cases of poisoning range all the way from light headache and nausea to conditions of actual gravity. The cases of Collector W. L. Hoornbeck, Antone Hornberg and Mrs. Alice Schoonmaker were unusually severe.

A. H. Fayer, proprietor of the Wayside Inn, issued a statement that not a single item served at the banquet came from a tin can and that not a single item was prepared more than a few hours before the affair. "Fresh ham and smoked ham, purchased in Ellenville just a few hours before, and mayonnaise made in our own kitchen, from fresh supplies, were the ingredients which entered into the sandwiches, which apparently caused the trouble," he said.

88th Birthday of George B. Styles

George B. Styles quietly celebrated his 88th birthday anniversary today at his home, 26 Lucas avenue. Mr. Styles was born in Kingston February 10, 1840. He is senior member of the firm of George B. Styles & Sons, 288 Fair street, and is the dean of all men engaged in a commercial enterprise in Kingston. When 16 years old he went to New York where he learned the watchmaking trade with James H. Buel of Bleecker street. Over 60 years ago he opened a jewelry store and watchmaking repair shop in Kingston and until about two years ago took an active part in conducting the store on Fair street, now actively managed by his sons, George B., Jr., and Harry C. Styles. Almost daily when weather conditions are favorable the octogenarian takes a ride in his large automobile greeting friends, and would have been out today at the store only for the reason that his son, Harry, who operates the auto, is confined to the home with an attack of pleurisy.

CHAPLAIN SCHRUM TALKS TO STUDENTS

Chaplain Schrum, lieutenant commander of the U. S. Navy, stationed on the Mayflower, President Coolidge's yacht, addressed the Kingston High School students Thursday morning during the regular assembly period in the auditorium. His subject was "Lincoln," owing to the nearness of that famous American's birthday. His talk was very much enjoyed by the students.

Chaplain Schrum is intimate with many government officials. He knows much of the private lives of President and Mrs. Coolidge, whom he holds to be two real exponents of Americanism. The cabinet officers are well known to him and he told of these men, many of whom raised themselves from menial beginnings to positions of high rank and trust.

In order to stress what a really true, great American Abraham Lincoln was, the speaker cited an incident that took place while he was visiting the office of a member of the cabinet. The cabinet officer was asked by Chaplain Schrum why he had not included a picture of Lincoln among a group of famous men displayed in his office. The official answered by saying that he considered Abraham Lincoln a super-man. There are many who hold Lincoln in the same manner.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Coy, Highland, a son, William Ambrose, Jr., at City of Kingston Hospital.

Masonic Card Party.

The Masonic Club will hold a card party Monday evening, February 13, to which the public is extended a cordial welcome. There will be prizes and refreshments.

TESSLAR HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE AT KERHONKSON.

The residence of Morris Tesslar at Kerhonkson was destroyed on Monday by fire which started in a chimney. Last year the Tesslar home was destroyed by fire and the house destroyed Monday was a new house in which the family had resided but a short time. According to Mrs. Tesslar the fire when first discovered could have been easily extinguished but her four year old son, Alex, ran away and hid under the bed and while she was hunting for him she forgot the fire until it had gained such headway that it was impossible to bring it under control. As a result the Tesslar family are left without a home, clothing or food.

Hearing Here on Bus Line Petition

Merrihew Brothers Seek Extension Privileges from Shandaken to Margaretville—Residents Testify to Necessity—Margaretville Objects but offers No Testimony.

A public hearing on the application of the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corporation to extend its bus route from Shandaken to Margaretville in Ulster county, was held Thursday afternoon at the court house before the Public Service Commission's representative. Merrihew Brothers, who now hold a franchise to operate as far as Shandaken, have been operating a bus route for some time from that hamlet to Margaretville and now seek to secure from the Public Service Commission an amended certificate of public necessity which would give them proper permission to operate over the route to Margaretville.

The officers of the corporation testified to the bus facilities which they have and also as to the route which they intend to follow if granted the permission. John W. Eckert appeared for the petitioners. H. H. Flemming appeared for the Ulster & Delaware Railroad but did not oppose the application except that he stated he was opposed to having two buses run between Margaretville and Arkville, the junction of the U. & D. and Delaware & Northern. He stated that the Ulster & Delaware was the pioneer transportation company in that locality and still retained some rights and he did not object to a bus line running between the two places but he though two buses were too many and suggested that some business should be left for the railroad.

Residents Favor Extension.

Among those who testified that the route was a necessity and convenience was H. Winfield Misner, president of the village of Pine Hill; A. E. Smith, assessor of Pine Hill, and Sam Shapiro, merchant of Pine Hill.

George Speenburgh, mayor of Fleischmanns, lawyer and bank president, appeared for the village officials and stated the need was great and the extension should be granted as it was a necessity and convenience to the villagers. He told of the train service on the U. & D. There are two trains each way on week days and the service was such that it was impossible for Fleischmanns residents to come to Kingston and do business and return home the same day by train.

Dr. S. W. Reed of Margaretville and Stanley Hornbeck of Arkville also testified that the line was a convenience and necessity. Mr. Hornbeck said that there was a line now operating from Arkville through Margaretville and he thought the petition of the Pine Hill-Kingston Bus Corporation should be granted but not to the exclusion of the present line. Many people travel from Arkville to Oneonta and the present bus line connects with the Oneonta line and is a convenience, but the additional service furnished by the Merrihew Brothers line was a great convenience to people coming toward Ulster county.

Margaretville Objects.

Mr. Fenton for the village of Margaretville was the only real objector to the petition being granted. He stated that from Arkville to Margaretville was two miles and the present bus line was giving a service. There are two busses each way a day at present on the Margaretville line, known as the Green line, and the Merrihew Brothers are giving three additional trips. Margaretville objected to the Merrihew line on the grounds that it would foreclose the rights of the line which they now have. There seemed to be no specific objection to the Merrihew line running through to Margaretville provided it would not be allowed to take passengers locally between Margaretville and Arkville but would confine its passengers to through passengers.

Looking for Through Business.

Petitioners claimed that there was but very little local business between Margaretville and Arkville and they would be willing to have the certificate of public necessity so drawn by the commission that local passengers between these two points were prohibited on their line if the commission thought it desirable to insert that condition. Their object was to give a service from Margaretville to Kingston and intermediate points and they were not making a bid for business between Margaretville and Arkville.

Mr. Fenton, however, said he would like to object to that kind of permission being granted petitioner. The Oneonta line which now runs to Margaretville and the line which comes in from Meridale afford transportation to Arkville people going to Margaretville and on to Oneonta. When the Meridale road is completed that line will run through to Oneonta. There is also an express bus from Oneonta to Kingston now.

There was no testimony taken in opposition to the granting of the extension of the Merrihew line from Shandaken on to Margaretville except the remarks of Mr. Fenton for Margaretville officials.

DAIRY FACTS

COWS NEED WARM DRINK IN WINTER

Successful winter dairying calls for an adequate supply of water at a temperature that will not paralyze the entire digestive tract of the cow when she drinks.

"Water is equally as important as feed," says Dr. C. H. Eckles, chief of the dairy division of the University of Minnesota. "A cow milking 30 pounds daily drinks close to 100 pounds of water every 24 hours. Sometimes watering the cows means turning them out of the barn once a day to drink what they can stand of ice-cold water. Can we imagine a cow which weighs around 1,100 pounds drinking 100 pounds, or nearly one-tenth of her weight, of ice water at once? Of course she will not do it and consequently will not give her owner 30 pounds of milk even though she has the ability to produce this much and has feed enough as well.

"The milk flow may be cut down quicker by a lack of water, or by the use of ice water, than by poor feed. Individual drinking cups in my judgment pay more dividends to the user than almost anything else in the line of modern barn equipment. Even if the water is not warmed in the cups the cow will take such small amounts at a time, so long as it is above freezing, that no harm results from drinking it cold.

"If cows must be watered from a tank outdoors and under conditions which mean ice water, it will pay to install a water heater of some kind. It is much cheaper to warm the water with fuel than by giving the cow extra grain to warm it within her body."

Cows With Records Are Decreasing in Number

Pure bred dairy cows of good type and with high official records are actually getting hard to find.

The shortage, according to Roy T. Harris, supervisor of Wisconsin dairy tests, is caused by the fact that since 1920 there has been a marked decrease in official testing. Up to that time there was an abundance of tested animals, but as the demand for pure breds slackened with the change in economic conditions many breeders discontinued advanced registry testing.

"The oversupply of animals with records is no longer evident," declared Harris, "in fact, there is an actual shortage of animals combining desirable form with even good advanced registry backing. This situation indicates that the most opportune time to start or renew testing is right this year."

Winter months are particularly favorable for starting cows on test, especially to make semi-official records. Cows freshening in the fall produce as much as 15 to 20 per cent more milk and butterfat than those calving in the summer. Another advantage of starting the test in the fall or winter is that on many farms plenty of help is generally available to care for the cows when production is highest. In short time testing, ranging from seven to thirty days, the best records are usually made in the winter.

Providing Ice Storage for Use in the Summer

As an aid to farmers in providing ice storage, the division of agricultural engineering, department of agriculture, University of Minnesota, has prepared blue prints of a plan for a farm ice house holding 16 tons. The blue print shows just how the ice house should be built, and is distributed through the division of publications, University Farm, St. Paul, at the nominal charge of 10 cents to cover costs. With creameries paying premium prices for sweet cream, more and more farmers are becoming interested in providing ice for use in the summer in order that the cream may be kept cool until it can be marketed.

New Dance Frocks

The new dance frocks are what they term "bouffant." That is, the skirts are full and flaring, while the bodice is very low-waisted and semi-fitting. In fact, the skirt in reality is on a yoke which fits tightly about the hips, and which comes down in a point longer in front than in the back.

Entertainers at Republican Club

The Republican Club held a smoker and entertainment Thursday evening at the rooms in Pythian Hall, Broadway and Thomas street, with a large attendance of the members present. Judge Augustus Schoonfield, president of the club, presided and several interesting talks were given by members of the club. The business meeting was followed by a smoker and vaudeville talent appearing at the Broadway Theatre entertained the club members with a most enjoyable program.

The artists had a busy day since arriving in Kingston. They presented their program at the theatre matinee in the afternoon and from there went to the Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street where they entertained the members of the American Legion Luncheon Club, and later gave their regular program at the theatre that evening, winding up the day's activities with a performance at the Republican Club.

C. D. OF A. CARD PARTY DELIGHTFUL SUCCESS

On Wednesday evening the Knights of Columbus Hall, Broadway and Andrew street, was the scene of a most delightful social event in the form of a card party, under the auspices of Court Santa Maria, No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America.

Under the very efficient chairmanship of Mrs. Mary McNelis and her committee the affair proved to be the largest of its kind ever held in the Knights of Columbus building. Socially and financially it was a great success, over two hundred enjoying the card playing and the delicious refreshments. Many beautiful prizes were awarded.

The chairman and committee received many congratulations during the evening. Thanks are extended to all who in any way by their presence or donations helped to make the party such a success.

Efficient Ration for Bull Calf Is Outlined

A good bull calf ration is ten pounds of clover or alfalfa hay, together with a grain mixture of six parts of corn, four parts of oats and one part of linseed meal. The grain mixture should be fed according to the appetite of the calf, the object being to bring about a gain of about two pounds daily or a little better. To start with, five or six pounds of grain daily will be enough for the calf, but it soon can be increased to ten or twelve pounds. In some cases it pays to substitute bran for part of the oats and to increase the linseed meal in the ration to two pounds daily.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 10 (AP).—Price movements in today's stock market was rather indecisive but the general trend appeared to be downward. Speculative uneasiness over the establishment of a new high record in the volume of brokers' loans appeared to be the chief selling influence, although week end profit taking also was a factor. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume.

The increase of 392,072 tons in January unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel Corporation, bringing the total to 4,275,947 tons, the largest since March, 1926, was about in line with Wall Street's expectations. Steel common failed to make much response to the announcement, although it was well supported around the 145 level.

Rubbers and oils were under heavy selling pressure as a result of unfavorable trade news. Houston, General Asphalt, Common preferred, U. S. Rubber first preferred and Goodrich all sold down 3 to nearly 5 points. DuPont and American Railway Express broke 5 points each. Coal and coal carrying railroad shares also showed a tendency to a new weakness, presumably in reflection of the unseasonably warm weather.

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

PRUNING BUSHES EARLY IN SPRING

For vigorous bushes and a good crop of large fruit, gooseberries and currants should be pruned as early in the spring as possible, advises J. H. Clark of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture.

When a mature plant is being pruned, it is best first to remove the old canes which are past their productive period. The canes of the gooseberry and of the red and white currants bear fruit over a period of three to four years, and those of the black currant only two to three years. The long, vigorous, unbranched canes with light-colored bark are new ones and will produce the crops during the following years. On vigorous plants five to six of the best of these may be left each year. These should be cut back about one-third to promote branching, while all of the other one-year-old canes should be removed entirely.

Canes which tend to bend over close to the ground may as well be removed since any fruit they might produce would be dirty and of poor quality. Two-year-old canes which have made a very weak growth, or which are affected by disease or insect injury, should be pruned out.

Although sometimes it may be found desirable to remove a few of the laterals from some of the older canes to prevent too dense a growth the following summer, usually very little of this thinning is needed.

It is a safe plan to burn all prunings except a few healthy one-year-old canes which may be desired for cuttings to secure new plants.

Wrap Young Fruit Trees to Keep Rabbits Away

The only safe way to prevent rabbits from gnawing the bark of the trunks of young fruit trees is to wrap the base of the tree trunks from the ground to a height of about 18 to 20 inches, or the space between the ground and the lowest branches, asserts T. J. Talbert, orchard specialist at the Missouri College of Agriculture. Where the branches are less than 18 inches above the soil, the wrappers should include both trunk and branches to a height of 18 to 20 inches.

Some of the most common wrapping materials used are one-inch mesh poultry wire, galvanized window screen wire, galvanized wire netting having three or four meshes to the inch, old newspapers, gunny sacks torn in strips six to eight inches wide, and cornstalks. Wood veneer wrappers, patented wire wrapers, tarred paper and building paper may be used. Trees are seldom attacked after they reach the age of four or five years.

Trash, litter and dead grass and weeds which may form a harbor for the meadow mouse should be kept away from the tree trunks. Where cultivation cannot be practiced on account of soil washing or for other reasons, hoeing a strip a few feet wide around the tree trunks to keep the space clear will help materially in preventing injury.

Galvanized window screen wire and other types of wire screen having quarter-inch meshes, if cut in strips and placed around the tree trunks as described to prevent injury by rabbits, will also protect the trees against injury by mice. Wire protectors, therefore, serve a double purpose.

Careless Transplanting Big Cause of Failures

Carelessness in transplanting is the usual cause of the failure of newly planted trees to grow. Many species have to be transplanted with great care and certain precautions. When digging trees and shrubs that are to be transplanted it is necessary to retain as large a proportion of the roots as possible and they must be kept moist until they are in the ground again. The hole should be dug large enough to take the whole spread of the roots and deep enough to let the tree be planted one or two inches deeper than it was in the woods or nursery.

If the soil is poor, enough good soil should be brought to at least partially fill the hole. Manure should be applied, not in the hole, but to the surface. The soil should be well tramped down around the tree. After planting the tree or shrub should be cut back well, and large trees should be braced with guy ropes or tied to stakes. Evergreens should not be headed back. Before leaving the tree after planting the surface of the soil should be loosened in order to prevent too rapid evaporation of moisture.

Ideal Tree

The ideal fruit trees should have a slight difference in the height of the limbs of the tree, that the weight from a crop of fruit will not cause a strain to come at one point from two or more sides of the tree. As soon as the growth of the young tree has advanced far enough to select the branches that are to remain to make the permanent framework, all other branches should be removed. This early heading work of the young tree is usually done in May.

Blessing in Disguise

"Most wives have a daily rush of getting the husband off to work," says the Woman's Home Companion. "They shouldn't complain," says the caustic commentator. "They ought to be thankful they have husbands who will go off to work."

Use a good grain mixture containing a small amount of cottonseed meal or linseed meal. Feed one pound of grain mixture for each three pints or pounds of milk produced.

SYNTHETIC TOWN IN JERSEY LATEST MARVEL OF SCIENCE

Alexander Bing Can't Wait for "Burg" to Grow, So Builds One

Towns used to grow.

Think back. Isn't it so?

At some crossroad a settlement would start for no good reason at all, and gradually increase to the proportions of a country town.

But now! Modern methods manufacture 'em out of whole cloth. At any rate, Alexander M. Bing of New York and his associates have acquired more than 1,000 acres in New Jersey and will build a complete town to be named Radburn.

This synthetic town will be reared with due regard to auto traffic and will surround a central park containing all schools, recreation centers and shops. Auto roads will be routed out of the way of pedestrians around the outside edge of the town. Factories will be provided for workers of Radburn so that there will not be any commuters.

In other words, Radburn is intended to be self-contained and self-supporting. Probably it will, but what's going to happen when the neighbors start talking about each other?

Jewelry in Odd Shapes for Formal Occasions

If you are wondering whether there aren't some new types of jewelry for formal afternoon or evening wear, you'll be interested to know that Channel sponsors three: necklaces of crystals, cut round or square like diamonds, are set in silver or strung on silver chains; flat colored clear stone chains which resemble emeralds, topaz, amethyst, rubies, and the real aquamarine set in silver rims and made into long chains; long ropes of pastel or black and white colored flat, cracked stones set in flexible, flat settings of silver on chains.

Harem Scarf Worn Over Lower Portion of Face

Harems may be going out of fashion, but they still influence the ideas of Parisian dressmakers.

A harem scarf, meant to be worn over the lower part of the face, revealing the eyes, is the Rue de la Paix's latest. The scarfs are of pale-colored chiffon, usually attached to the left shoulder of the dress.

These are wrapped once about the neck like the ordinary scarf by ultra-modern women who scorn the eastern style. But the designer of this particular fashion intended the scarf to be worn in oriental fashion.

Bissell Talks to Service Club

National President of "Forty and Eight" Outlines Aims of Organization—Compliments Local Legion Post on Results of Membership Drive.

Seventy-five Legionnaires attended the open dinner at the American Legion Service Club Thursday night and listened to an address by Pelham St. George Bissell, national president of the "Forty and Eight," who gave an inspiring message to the assemblage. It was an exceptional honor for the local post to have him here.

George W. Potter, president of the club, introduced Mr. Bissell to the members seated around the horseshoe shaped table.

After expressing his pleasure at being with the local post again for the third time, the national president launched into his talk about the "Forty and Eight."

He pointed out that "you get out of an organization exactly what you put into it." He said that an organization to become successful and survive, must work unceasingly in their efforts to promote its particular aim or purpose. He lauded the membership committee of the local post in their fine showing of over 500 members thus early in the year, which surpassed all previous records of the post. He was confident that that body would succeed in its determination to obtain 700 members before the end of the year.

He praised Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., grand chef de gare of New York state, for his activities in Legion work and said "I am proud to have Andy Murphy as my successor in office this year." He predicted Mr. Murphy's reign would surpass all other records of the state "Forty and Eight."

Principle More Than Awards.

In speaking of the different awards the "Forty and Eight" accord for various honors to the public he said: "It is not the value of the award that counts, but the principle for which it stands and the spirit in which it is given."

When Nathan Hale, Revolutionary spy, was hanged near the city hall in New York city, he said: "I regret that I have but one life to give for my country." Mr. Bissell said that he believed it was sometimes harder to live for one's country and strive to carry out the ideals inherited from the row upon row of white crosses in the cemeteries of France, and work for God and country.

He objected to the "Forty and Eight" being termed a subservient branch of the Legion. "The 'Forty and Eight' is a separate branch of the American Legion and all qualified Legionnaires banded together to help promote the Legion work, and not a subservient organization." To become a "Forty and Eighter," a Legionnaire must perform some exceptional service in the Legion.

Potter Asks Cooperation.

As he resumed his seat at the guest table, decorated in green foliage with a hugh bouquet of hyacinths and daffodils, he was vigorously applauded. Mr. Potter, after thanking him for his talk, made a plea to the audience.

"There are many new faces here," said Mr. Potter, "who are not seen very frequently in the Legion Building. I want to invite you men to come around and join in this Legion work and not leave the burden of carrying on the organization's work to a special few." He outlined the various activities going on in the Legion and said the members would take more pleasure in being Legionnaires if they would offer their services and take part in this great work.

Murphy Pledges Help.

He then called upon Grand Chef de Gare Murphy.

"After hearing our honored guest," Mr. Murphy said, "any speech I might make would have no weight. The ground has been thoroughy covered by Mr. Bissell and I find myself at loss to speak." However, Mr. Murphy gave a creditable account of himself and ended with "my heart and soul is with the American Legion."

Entertainment for Guests.

Before the dinner, George Arthur Brown, former world's walking champion, was introduced as master of ceremonies. Mr. Brown has picked out Kingston as his future home, he said, and was glad to be of service to any organization of this kind. He presented a half dozen vaudeville entertainers, who through the courtesy of Manager Harry Lazarus of the Broadway Theatre entertained the guests with a regular vaudeville show.

Although handicapped by the facilities of stage lighting and scenery setting, the artist offered a fine entertainment after which they joined the guests at the dinner table. They will be at the Broadway Theatre for three days and their entertainment is worth seeing.

Thomas F. Coughlin led the diners in singing war songs. The dinner was ably served by a group of "Eight and Forty," auxiliary body of the "Forty and Eight." Credit must be given to the ladies for the pretty decorations and arrangement of the tables. They made a charming appearance in their scarlet uniforms.

Cover on the Roots

When trees are shipped from a nursery their roots are covered with moist material, says the American Tree association of Washington, which will, for a stamp, send planting suggestions. Keep this covering around the roots until immediately before planting. The roots of the trees dug from the woodland should be similarly covered and protected.

Saturday, February 11.

"Rigoletto" with Edie Norena and Richard Bonelli in the leading roles, will be presented by the Chicago Civic Opera Company before the microphone of WNAC beginning at 7:30 for one of the big highlights Saturday night. Ten minutes later the New York Symphony orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch will be introduced to the audiences of WJZ and the Blue network. An address, "The Electrification of Russia" by Col. Hugh Cooper, and a group of typical Russian musical selections will be the highlights of the unusual broadcast. Victor Herbert's comic opera, "The Serenade," with Jessica Dragonette, soprano, will be featured in the Philco hour through WJZ and the Blue network at 9 o'clock. A "Portrait of Lincoln" has been arranged by WOR for 10 o'clock. Compulsion and Irresponsibility

Compulsory Law Takes Away Self-Responsibility In a Child, Says Educator, Who Names Other Causes Also and Indicates One Remedy.

The Schoolwomen's Club held its annual banquet at the Hotel Stuyvesant on Tuesday evening with seventy members of the club in attendance. Dr. A. R. Brubacher, president of the New York State College for Teachers, and Dr. Myron J. Michael, superintendent of the city schools, were guests of the club.

The following very delicious menu was served:

Bouillon
Celery Olives
Baked Fish, Cream Sauce
Roast Turkey Dressing
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas
Cranberry Sauce
Fruit Salad
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee

Dr. Brubacher gave a very interesting and helpful address in which he explained what teachers can do to develop a sense of responsibility in the pupil.

He stated that the spirit of irresponsibility is widespread. What are the causes for this? What can teachers do to develop a feeling of responsibility among boys and girls? Several illustrations of irresponsibility are found in the public life today. Less than fifty per cent of qualified voters actually exercise the right to vote. Our forefathers fought for these same rights while we take this responsibility of citizenship very lightly. Then again people seem intent on law evasion and law breaking. We do not feel the responsibility of making the law and keeping the law.

Some of the causes for this feeling of irresponsibility are the present day luxuries, safety first devices, modern insurance and installment buying. We care more for present enjoyment than ultimate future.

Education fits into this group also. Our compulsory law takes away self-responsibility in a child. No boy or girl of today is faced with the fact that he must provide for his own education. It is entirely different from the days of our forefathers when education was not compulsory.

Courses of study and college work are so planned that they are easy of attainment—even the moron can accomplish the work. It is done for them. We arrange our educational matters in such small packages that all can get this without effort. The slang phrase among students is "Save your coupons and get a diploma."

Must Have Penalties.

In order to remedy this condition American education must first set up a series of penalties to offset that feeling of irresponsibility and teachers must feel the difference between learning and being taught. Colleges must keep up their standards for those who can attain. "Those who cannot attain must take exits for industrial work. Because colleges have put down their standards some "real" students are groping about to find something intellectual—hence the "student movement."

In closing Dr. Brubacher gave these antidotes:

Educational ideals should awaken a desire to learn.

School systems must exact a penalty for those who will not learn.

We should go back to the proposition that safety comes only by caution.

Prosperity must be related to industry if not frugal economy.

That competency for the future depends in the final analysis on thrift.

Education should be free only to those who are willing to learn and can learn.

We should set up the necessary penalties to bring home the fact that "No one can educate anyone, we have to teach our self."

A short talk by Dr. Michael followed which being given in his usual pleasing manner was greatly enjoyed by the teachers present.

The Rigor of the Game

"So you're learning to play chess. Do you find the moves difficult?"

"Yes, but the worst part of the game isn't the moving, it's the keeping still."

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
